Location – PC location or installation information (Example: China – usb 1234)

Download path – Program download location

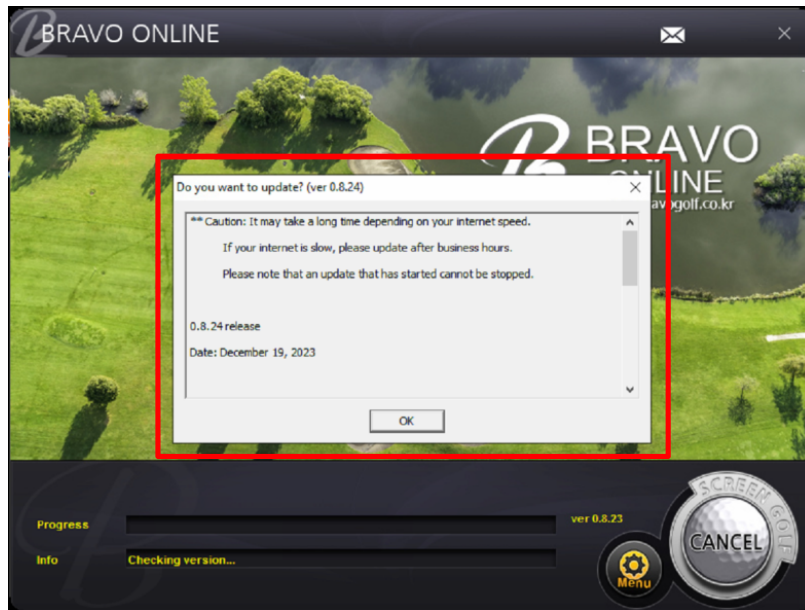

Default location – c:\bravogolf3\patch

If you want to change it, set it to a different disk.

Download patch is not the program installation location.

If there is not enough space in the C drive, change the download location to You can change and install it.

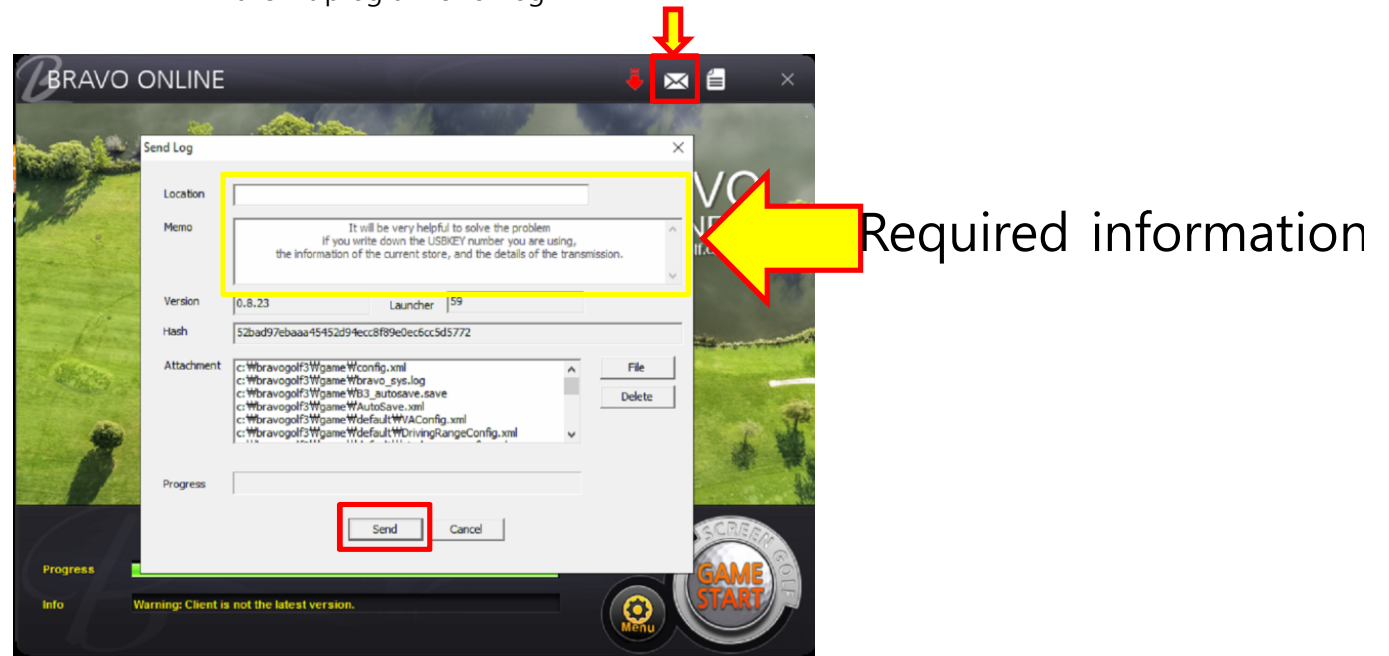

update the program

If there is a higher version of the program than the current program, the update information is displayed as above. After checking the contents, click the update button "↓" at the top to proceed with the update.

Speeds may vary depending on the country or Internet line.
If the speed is slow, please perform the update at a time when the program is not in use.

Transmit program error log

If there is an error, abnormality, or content to be modified while using the program, click  above and record the sender's location and occurrence/USBKEY number.

When you press the SEND button, it will be submitted to Bravo.

 If the program is stopped or rebooted while in use, the previous records will be sent if you transfer before running the program again after a problem occurs.

However, if it is not transmitted before starting the program, the contents will be lost and cannot be known. It is difficult to determine the problem from the error message that appears on the screen. Sending the log above is the most accurate delivery.

 If there is no location or memo content, it may be excluded from review.
